MAD DOG AT NEW ALBANY.

Was Killed After Biting Dogs and Animals.

New Albany has been greatly excited for the past week over a supposed mad dog which passed through the village. The dog was owned by Willis Howell who lives about a mile up the turnpike toward Laddsburg. On Thursday the dog was thought to be acting strangely so Mr. Howell shut him up in his granary. The dog climbed up the stairs, leaped from a window twenty feet to the ground and immediately started for this place. Arriving here he bit a dog belonging to S. S. Merithew, and one belonging to a Miss Hollenback who is visiting at E. S. Keeler's. Two cats belonging to Mr. Keeler were bitten. He then passed through town and killed a number of ducks belonging to Charles Hammond who lives on the B. W. Wilcox farm. Then he bit a sheep belonging to M. B. Ryder and went on to O. W. Fawcett's mill. Mr. Fawcett caught the dog, and tied him in his barn. While there the dog had a fit and slipping off his collar ran away towards Frank Kellogg's. Directly he came back to Fawcett's and S. Griswold shot at him with a revolver. The dog ran to the mill porch and crawled under it where Mr. Griswold gave him another shot. He then ran up the road a short distance and fell dead. This is the history of the mad dog's escapades. What other dogs or animals have been bitten no one knows, but the borough authorities have taken prompt action to prevent any further spread of the disease.—New Albany Mirror.

GIRL'S REMARKABLE FEAT.

Swam Across Seneca Lake Without Apparent Effort.

Nora Stanton Blatch, of Ithaca who is visiting at the summer home of Mrs. Eliabeth Smith Miller, near Geneva, performed the unusual feat of swimming across the Seneca Lake Tuesday afternoon. The lake is two miles wide at the point where the young lady accomplished the remarkable and daring feat. She was two hours in the water and was not in the least exhausted when the trip was completed. Miss Blatch is the first woman who ever attempted to swim the lake. Why she made the attempt is not definitely known. She was accompanied by two boats containing friends, but she paid little atention to them after entering the water.

Miss Blatch is a student at the Cornell University and is taking a course in civil engineering. It is also said that she is the first woman to take this course in the history of the institution.

WILL ADOPT ELECTRICITY.

Plans to Turn Ithaca and Auburn Division Into a Third- Rail System.

A Buffalo dispatch, following closely upon the official anouncement that the New York Central will install electricity on certain parts of its line, will own a controlling interest in a troley syndicate and also own the controlling interest in a power company comes the news that the Lehigh Valley will soon make public its plans for buying a few trolley companies and converting part of its lines into a third rail system. The Ithaca and Auburn division is to be the first part of the road equipped with electricity.

Passed Examinations.

Lewis H. C. Gerould clerk in E. P. Kester's pharmacy, has successfully passed his state examinations as a registered pharmacist. Mr. Gerould was one of the 23 who were successful out of the 101 who tried the examinations. Mr. Gerould's many friends will congratulate him on his good work.

Death of Mrs. Farley.

Mrs. John Farley died on Aug. 10 at her home at Sayre from typhoid fever from which she had been suffering for about a month. She was 32 years of age and came to Sayre from Meshoppen. She had nursed four cases of the disease at her home before she was taken with the malady.

Ill With Appendicitis.

Victor Piollet son of Hon. and Mrs. Louis Piollet of Wysox, was taken to the Robert Packer hospital at Sayre Sunday, and was operated upon for appendicitis Monday. The many friends of the young man will hope for a successful operation and his speedy recovery.

A Warning.

While the ball game between Coudersport and Austin was in progress at Coudersport the fence back of the players' bench upon which were seated about 150 "dead-heads," gave way, precipitating the occupants to the ground. Several were seriously injured.

NOTES OF GRANGES.

Items of Interest Contributed by Editor A. T. Lilley.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

School Boards Are Falling Into Line for the New Method of Conducting Rural Institutions—The LeRoy Limestone.

(All communications to this column should be addressed to A. T. Lilley, LeRoy, Pa.)

The grange basket picnic to be held on the 26th inst. will be one of much interest to the members of the order of Patrons of Husbandry. A large attendance is expected to listen to eminent speakers.

Beech Flats grange conferred the third and fourth degrees on a class of eight young people last week and still more are ready.

Troy grange now boasts of a membership of 212 members and a fine territory to gain more.

Thirty is the number reported in a class initiated at a recent meeting of Carpenter grange a few miles from Canton.

Granville Centre grange invited the members of surrounding granges to attend ice cream festivities last Wednesday evening. Proceeds to be used to furnish grange hall. Rain prevented many from attending.

Initiation at Open Hand grange last Tuesday evening. At the previous meeting of this grange each member was called upon to give his or her earliest recollections. The meeting was entertaining. Much of early local history was called to mind by the older members.

It speaks well for the Order in southwestern Bradford where most of the granges meet weekly and keep up a lively interest so that many more are to join the grange soon.

The parcel post facilities asked for by the grange must be talked about in very many places for it it noted that nearly all of the agricultural papers are asking for the carriage of parcels not to exceed twelve pounds.

When right makes might we will have laws that will admit of carrying freight on trolley cars, and give us postal banks.

Consolidation of Schools.

Thinking patrons are pleased to know that the members of some school boards have changed their minds since the first of June and have decided to consolidate some of the schools and thereby save taxes and improve the schools. The grange favors the centralization of schools so we are pleased that school boards composed of members of that order are taking a stand on the side of the interests of our children. The opponents of centralization begin to think when they listen to call of the tax collector and note the amount required to keep small schools in running order.

The grange believes there is a growing demand in this state for a constitutional amendment giving the people the right to initiate and to veto legislation. A careful study of this question will result in good.

License taxes, personal taxes, and the tax on county and municipal loans should remain in the countries and municipalities and we trust that the attention of all voters may be drawn to this fact.

Principles first, and then the men to early carry them out is a very good rule to follow.

Equal taxation, equal burdens and equally divided privileges is fair for the citizens of any community.

Eighteen granges have been added to the roll in Pennsylvania since the first of January.

State Master W. F. Hill says it now looks as though there will be 7,000 additions to the grange during the present year.

A grange is just what the members make it and its influence on the surrounding community is also what the members make it.

LeRoy Limestone.

It may be interesting to some Bradford county farmers to know that the limestone of Burlington township which the second geological survey recognizes as the Burlington limestone, is now called the LeRoy limestone, Burlington having been previously used as the name of a different formation. This particular limestone may be found in many parts of the county. It is located several hundred feet below the top of the Chemung age. It may be found in the townships of LeRoy, Franklin, Granville, Columbia, Wysox, Standing Stone and some others. This limestone has a reddish color and is filled with fossils the principal part of which is composed of the remains of shelled fish, yet the large Holonema ruzosus, a fish having a thread ornamentation, is found frequently. The report of E. M. Kindle who made extensive researches in this county, is in course of publication by authority of the Department of the Interior at Washington, D. C. The work gives a description of the ages of Bradford county with all fossils found.

The hay crop is good; early oats bright and fine; late oats rusty; corn poor; potatoes fair and gardens medium. The yield of butter has been good and is the most profitable crop raised.

Granite grange of New Hampshire boasts of having 1,149 meetings during 30 years, but Open Hand grange has had more than 1,400 in same length of time.

In the grange field at late there was never a time when the educational interests of both the young and aged were so well looked after as at present. Grange papers are filled with programs showing much active interest in literary work and discussions on practical farm subjects. In this line there was never another agricultural society that equalled the grange.

CASKEY'S RISE AND FALL.

How Well Known Lehigh Detective Got His Profession.

The Hazleton Standard of yesterday says the following in regard to John C. Caskey the Lehigh special officer, located at Sayre.

"Most persons are endowed by nature with certain instincts which if properly developed will in a course of time make them famous. Such seems to be the case of John Caskey, a former employe of the Jersey Central in this section who during the past few years has risen from an obscure carpenter and signal man to one of the shrewdest detectives on the Lehigh Valley system. As with most cases it was through an accident which for a time threatened his life, that his peculiar talent was discovered. Quitting the railroad he entered the employ of a Mauch Chunk carpenter contractor. This is where his fall and subsequent rise occurred. One day while working on a scaffold he slipped and fell to the pavement injuring his back so severely that he was unfit for hard labor. Being a man of powerful physique he secured employment with the Lehigh Valley as a special officer. He immediately became a terror to evil doers and has steadily advanced until now he is one of the best detectives on the system."

The injury referred to above was received during the Autumn of 1890 and one of the vertebra in his back was broken. For seven months after receiving the injury he was unable to move and then it was a much longer time before he was able to walk with any celerity.

THE UMPIRE.

Two Opinions from Sporting Life on His Criticism.

The umpire is often called the tenth man on the team. This is supposed to mean that he intentionally helps one team or another. There are a few umpires that do this but the average team wants a fair man to decide the points and this is what Towanda has always tried to get. But the umpire is bound to be criticised just as a player will be, if he has played an errorless game and makes a couple of breaks. Folowing are two suggestive notes on the umpire taken from Sporting Life:

"It is always easy to criticise the umpire. Often the umpire is criticised unjustly. It is simply your opinion against his. He is in a better position to judge and he is paid for it.—Boston Post."

"Says the veteran Tim Murane: It takes brains to play ball but none to nag an umpire. It is noted that it is invariably the stupid or blundering player who endeavors to make the umpire a scapegoat or shield for his own shortcomings."

A Jolly Camping Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Schoonover and daughters Rose and Violet of Towanda, Conductor and Mrs. Willard Myers and sons Thad, Arthur and Roy of Wilkesbarre, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Myers of North Towanda, and Miss Nettie Strange of East Towanda, spent last week at Camp Comfort, near Irving siding.

Towanda Review's Birthday.

The Towanda Daily Review today celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. It is not surprising that the owners of this sprightly newspaper feel proud of their attainment in the newspaper world. The Review is indeed a splendid production of inland daily journalism.—Williamsport Sun.

Visiting In Towanda.

Hamlin Russel and two daughters of Newark, are spending a few days in Towanda. Mr. Russell is a former Towandian and a son of B. S. Russell, who was for many years superintendent of the Sunday school of Christ church. Hamlin Russell addressed the school Sunday.

Two Champion Wrestlers.

Jack Maloy and Atherton, the wrestlers who will meet in Hale's Opera House on Thursday evening, are both claimants for championships, the former being undefeated, and Atherton being champion of the world. Maloy is from Milwaukee and Atherton from Elmira.

FRIDAY'S BIG PARADE

Fifty Companies and Bands to Be in Line of March.

WILL MAKE GREAT SHOWING

Town Will Be Lavishly Decorated for the Convention Day Events—Arches Being Erected on Main Street—Ball Games.

While the annual convention of the Five-County Firemen's association begins its sessions in Towanda on Thursday of this week, Friday will be the big day as that is the time of the big parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, the contests at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, a ball game after the contests and the prize drill after the ball game. There will also be a ball game on Thursday afternoon and on Thursday night the firemen will be coming to Towanda so that any one can make a good lively two days' stay at the county seat if they are so disposed.

The work on the arches was begun Monday. The decoration of the big blocks and business places is well under way and Monday the court house came out resplendent in flags, bunting and the colors of the various nations of the world suspended in a long line of pennants hung from the flag staff. Two good ball games are expected on Thursday and Friday with the Austin team which has been playing with good success in some fast company of late.

In addition to the visitors the five Towanda companies will be in line, and expect to have one band beside the Germanias.

The races will be called at 1 p. m., and will be run on South Main street, between Washington and Franklin streets.

The business meeting of the association will be held in the Grand Jury room at 2 o'clock on Thursday.

The base ball game will be called at 3:30 on the East Side grounds and as each team are strong ones ought to be a very interesting one.

Two car loads of Firemen from Tioga county will arrive on train 4 Thursday, also companies from Sayre at 5:30. Special excursion train of twelve cars from Galeton is due at 11:30 p. m.

The Germania band will give an open air concert in the reviewing stand on Thursday evening at 8:30, to be followed by a banquet at the Ward House to officers, delegates and visiting Firemen.

Special trains will arrive and depart as follows: Tunkhannock, 8:55; Owego, 8:47; Bernice, 8:50; Hughesville, 9:20. Returning to Tunkhannock, 9; Owego, 9:30; Bernice, 9:30; Hughesville, 5:30.

Line of March.

The parade will form at the intersection of York avenue, Mix avenue and North Main street and move down Main to Grant. From Grant it will go to Second and over Second to Bridge. From Bridge it will pass to Third street and over Third to Huston.

From Huston the line will march to York avenue; York to Locust avenue; Locust to William to Walnut. From Walnut to North Main to Main. The parade will then march down Main to the Tracy shoe factory and countermarch. The parade will move at 10 o'cloc Friday morning.

CONVENTION NOTES.

Still More Companies Heard From to Take Part in Parade.

The parade of the Five County Volunteer Firemen's association here on Friday will be even larger than was at first supposed. Additional companies have been heard from and there will be a total of 33 companies in the line of march. Many of them have from 40 to 50 men in line. Music will be a marked feature of the parade and there will be 16 bands and one drum corps or a musical organization to every two companies.

The Ahwaga Hose company of Owego, which will be the guests of Lin-ta Hose, No. 3 while here, will be accompanied by the Curran-Heim band of Binghamton. This is a fine organization of 21 pieces and it is expected to attract much attention in Towanda.

FIREMEN'S RELICS.

Towanda Business Places Display Some Interesting Ones.

One of the most interesting windows in town this week is the south one of A. M. Baker's store. It is given up to an exhibit of firemen's relics and pictures. A life size fireman stands in the center of the window clad in rubber coat helmet and carring a trumpet. There is an old Franklin banner, given by the ladies of the town to the company way back in 1854 and a lantern used at that date. Several spanners used to couple the old sole leather hose in the fifties are also in the exhibit. Chief Engineer Dudley Humphrey's friends will be surprised to see a picture of him taken when he was six years old, clad in firemen's regalia.

The Spalding & Graves Hardware company will also have a firemen's window with a life size fireman holding an old resident of a nozzle attached to a hose coupled to an up-to-date fire hydrant.

AN OLD TIME ENGINE.

Naiads Will Exhibit Their Hand Pump of Fifty Years Ago.

A unique feature of the big firemen's parade on Friday will be the appearance of the old hand engine used for about 25 years by the Naiad Hose and Engine company, No. 2. The engine was put in service on April 21, 1855, and served the company until about 1880, when the second and improved hand engine was bought.

For many years the old relic of the pioneer days of the department lay in the rear of the Mercur block, rusting. Members of the company rescued it and have put it in repair sufficient to show its manner of operation. It has been painted a sky blue color as to wood work, the iron parts painted black and the word "Naiad" lettered in gilt on the side. It will be drawn in the parade by a team of horses.

The work of decorating the business blocks is being pushed with vigor these last days. One of the finest appearing blocks is the Tracy and Noble building.

Burton W. Woodworth dropped dead in Weigister's drug store at Troy on Saturday afternoon. He was about 38 years of age and was a painter by trade. He leaves a wife and several children.

Rev. E. C. Hall of Maine gave a temperance lecture in the Christian church at this place Monday evening Mr. Hall was a native of this place and a former member of that church. A large number turned out to hear the lecture from their former Sunday school boy, who had risen to eminence by dint of his own preservance and were pleased with the discourse.

Mr. Hall believes the true Christian to be the true patriot. The man who is dishonest in business will be dishonest in politics. Nine-tenths of the reformed drinkers return to their cups as long as the saloon is allowed to continue.

He also denounced lynching as it is a whilesale disregard for law and order. Every man has a right to a fair trail by a jury of his peers; no matter what the crime might be. If there was no laziness in the world there would be mighty little poverty.

So far as it is possible to do it pays to have the cows take their annual vacation during August.

Because of the packing house strike a porterhouse steak at a city restaurant has come to look like $1.75.

The crop situation is being evened up in Kansas, for the rains which so seriously injured the wheat crop have been the making of the corn.

Hay is worth $6 per ton, yet one man knew no better than to put his nice crop of sixty tons in six little dinky stacks eight feet high, one-third to be wasted

Whenever a dog, a bull or a horse begins to show signs of viciousness the sooner one is rid of it the better. It furnishes risks which it does not pay to run.

Women always, or nearly always, have to work harder to earn a dollar than a man does, and when they have it earned they will always make it go further.

There are plenty of men who think they have done a smart thing when they can cross a railway track and have the engine skip their rear wheels by a couple of feet.

It costs from 50 to 60 cents a rod to lay a 3½ inch tile, and there is more money in the laying of it on thousands of farms than in feeding twenty cent corn to seven dollar hogs.

Partially cured clover hay damp with dew or rain will almost always make trouble if put either in the mow or the stack. If dry and carrying no moisture save that in the stalks the danger is much lessened.

The finest wheat raised in America is in danger of being pinched by a September frost—the crop in the great northwest county in western Canada. The crop is unusually late this year, much of it not headed out Aug. 1.

After seeing, we are firmly of the opinion that it will pay any man to scrimp himself next year for the privilege of spending ten days at the St. Louis world's fair. One cannot afford to miss seeing it if it is a possible thing to go.

A sheep man writing for a prominent agricultural paper advises that no sheep be allowed to die on the farm of old age. We are satisfied that very few are, judging from the quality of some of the mutton passed off on us for spring lamb.

The best thing about the silo is that it may be filled with the best of food independent of the weather. The rains which spoil the hay never hurt the silage. A man is absolutely sure of the quality of his winter forage supply when put in the silo.

Because of the high prices demanded for labor, every mine owner, manufacturer, railway corporation and farmer seeks in every possible manner to substitute some sort of a machine for a man. While almost compelled to do this now, the time is coming when because of it the unskilled laborer may not find it easy to get work.

John Ruskin, studying some of the social problems of his day, says that in view of the restless and almost revolutionary attitude of man's social and economic existence in these latter days the principle is good that each man shall possess the ground he can use and no more. This would be a social leveler, for modern aristocracy is mostly based upon land ownership.

If you arrange to thrash from the shock during August, as so many farmers do, and wish to save the straw in the best possible condition, just get a small boy and a pony and let them tramp the center of the straw stack as the swing stacker distributes the straw. A stack so tramped will settle in a perfect semicircle and be almost rainproof. This is no experiment, but a practical suggestion worth heeding.

A friend wants us to send him some strawberry plants to be set out during August. We have found that a strawberry bed set in the late summer, even if the plants can be made to live, which is no easy matter, has no advantage over the same bed planted next spring, for it will produce no crop to speak of next year. This applies to the north country. Farther south fall set berries do well, for they have a chance to grow all winter.

The best ideas are often of humble origin. Here is an old Missouri farmer winning a national reputation, all because he took a notion to split a box elder log in two pieces and fasten them together flat face to the front, hitched on his team and tried smoothing the clay roads in front of his place after the rains. Out of this very crude beginning there has been established the theory that such treatment of the dirt highways will immensely improve them at a most trifling cost.

POULTRY POSSIBILITIES.

In the past the central idea in connection with the keeping of poultry as a special business has been to secure as many winter high priced eggs as possible. To make a success of this phase of the business much expense and labor were involved—special accommodations and special food and care. Before the advent of cold storage the winter egg was high priced, while the spring and summer egg was very low priced. This has all now been changed and there is much profit in keeping fowls for their spring and summer eggs, even if they do not lay an egg during the winter season. This is an important thing, for at small expense one can now start in the business and make money from his flock at that time of the year when the weather is warm, the range good, green food abundant and but little work involved in the care of the flock. It is hardly likely that future prices for March, April and May eggs will again go below 14 or 15 cents to the producer, and it thus goes without saying that the production of eggs during this period of the year at these figures is a very inviting proposition.

There are eighty public gardens carried on by poor people in the city of Washington, conducted on the Pingree plan—vacant lots given by the owners for this purpose, both to the advantage of the city and the poor people as well.

The good times which the granger has had for the past two years converting a bushel of potatoes into a dollar's worth of sugar comes to an end this year unless all signs fail, for the tuber crop is very promising all through the west.

There is looming up a crop of cotton for 1904 worth $500,000,000, a crop of 600,000,000 bushels of wheat worth $480,000,000 and a crop of corn worth another $500,000,000, a trinity of resources which almost precludes such a calamity as what we call hard times.

What made that dark spot in the cornfield where the corn was twice as high as it was all round the field? Why, last year the owner of the land, in an absentminded fit, scattered a load of manure there, and the growing crop wants to encourage him to do more work in that line.

Twenty-two cars of cattle from the state of Washington were on the Chicago market one day recently. They were wintered on alfalfa and finished on grass and were good enough to bring $5 per hundred. There is something in this item for beef producers in the corn belt to think over.

The value of the government's work in taking up these large irrigation schemes is well illustrated by the fact that it requires from fifteen to twenty acres of land which it is proposed to irrigate to support one cow, while as soon as the water is turned on the one acre in alfalfa it will support two cows.

Denmark leads in successful co-operative work among farmers. It now has 1,056 co-operative creameries, handling the milk of 850,000 cows. The co-operative bacon factories have 65,000 members and do a business of $11,000,000 per annum and realize 4 cents a pound more for their bacon than any other country.

Potatoes have brought very high prices the past two seasons—from $1 to $1.50 per bushel. This is too much for the tuber, and instead of being as it should be, a staple food product for every family, it becomes a luxury. Fifty cents is a good price, enough to give the grower a nice profit and still be within the reach of the poor man.

The natural law is that things will sell for what they are worth and a man be valued for just what he is rather than that which he thinks he is or pretends to be. Because of this it never pays in the long run to put the small apples and potatoes in the middle of the barrel or for the man to assume to be other than what he really is.

We find that early potatoes maturing in August are much better dug as soon as ripe and put in a cool root house or cellar than they are to leave them to a continuous baking by the midsummer sun. This plan further enables one to take a crop of turnips from the land after the potatoes are removed, and thus disposes of a weed crop which is always a pest on the undug potato field.

A company of enterprising Japs landed on a small uninhabited island in the south Pacific, an island which became the property of the United States as a result of the Spanish war, a spot where millions of sea birds make their homes and breed and after securing feathers and plumage to the value of $200,000 for Tokyo millinery establishments were compelled to abandon their prize because of the failure of their food supply. An effort is to be made to locate the island and recover the treasure.

Alcohol can be used for light and heat as well as power and could be produced in any amount for less than 10 cents a gallon if only some method could be discovered whereby it could be made nondrinkable. It could thus be easily made a formidable competitor of the oil and gasoline monopoly. Germany is far ahead of the United States in this matter, no less than 2,250,000 tons of potatoes alone being used last year in that country to make alcohol, largely for heating and power purposes.

The Phrenologist and the Grocer.

Phrenologist—Here is a man out of his proper sphere. His head betokens high intellectual and spiritual qualities, yet he is spending his time behind a grocer's counter. Sir (to the grocer), I wish to ask you a question. Have you any aspirations—

Grocer (calling to clerk)—John, have we any aspirations?

Clerk—All out, sir; have some in the last of the week.—Kansas City Journal.

Conclusive.

Briggs—It's too bad about Winkle and the girl he is engaged to. Neither of them is good enough for the other.

Griggs—What makes you think that?

"Well, I've been talking the matter over with both families."—Life.

Getting Rid of the Proofs.

"Mrs. Flutterby doesn't show her age, does she?"

"Well, no, not so much as she did before she sent those grown up children of hers abroad."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Easy Order.

Shopkeeper—What can I show you, sir?

Absent Minded Professor—I want—let me see, what do I want? Dear me! I can't for the life of me remember what it is. Well, well, it doesn't matter. Give me the nearest thing you have to it.

—"and was just going to kiss me"—

EXPLOITING EXPOSITION.

Former Towandian Who Has Been Delivering Several Speeches.

The World's Fair Bulletin in its August number had an article that will be especially interesting to Towandians where the gentleman spent his boyhood. The article is as follows:

Many St. Louisans during the summer have organized themselves into a special bureau of exploiting and publicity. Wherever they go, they never fail to devote much of their time to promoting the welfare of the Exposition, and by their vivid descriptions, induce strangers in other cities to become visitors. Prominent among this class of St. Louisan, who have obtained results by their eloquence and descriptive powers, is one of St. Louis' prominent members of the legal fraternity A. M. Frumberg, a distinguished New Yorker, who is now a St. Louisan by adoption, and who quickly got the energetic and patriotic "Exposition idea." During the month of July, Mr. Frumberg has made four public addresses on the subject of the World's Fair and its attractions. He visited Kansas City, Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville, and at each city he was a guest at one of the leading clubs, which happened to be on the regular meeting nights, and upon being called upon to speak, chose naturally, as his subject, the World's Fair. His addresses gave him ample scope to display his gift of oratory, and were productive of effect, as well as expensive to Mr. Frumberg, for he has been acting as host to many visitors from those cities ever since. Mr. Frumberg was born in Towanda, Bradford county, Penn., and is only thirty-one years of age; he graduated from Columbia University New York, and obtained the degree of L. L. B. at the New York Law School. He has been successfully practicing his profession in St. Louis for several years, and stand high in social and political circles. TOWANDA, PA., AUGUST 18, 1904.

SHOULD BE LOOKED INTO.

An article in a news column relating to the work of securing colonists for western lands calls to mind a plan proposed at the banquet of the Business Men's association here last year by Mial E. Lilley, the Republican candidate for congress from this district. Mr. Lilley thought that some of the most desirable of the emigrants coming to this country might be induced to take up some of the abandoned farms of Bradford county. Mr. Lilley's suggestion is a fruitful one and The Review believes that the Business Men's association might well consult with Mr. Lilley and have the scheme looked thoroughly into.

The young men of this generation seem to have an antipathy to the farm. They're leaving the old places and going to the cities. As a result many farms are being abandoned and the buildings are allowed to rot and decay. These farms sold to emigrants at a reasonable figure would not only populate the county more fully but would add greatly to the total of its resources.

A cartoon printed in the Philadelphia North American Tuesday vividly portrays the chief danger likely to result from Bishop Potter's "respectable" saloon. The cartoon shows a young man who has never tasted liquor passing along a city street. The ordinary liquor saloon, with its screened windows, prize fight bulletins and bloated bartender, offers no temptation to him, but he hesitates as he reaches the Bishop's popular saloon, with its reading room, soda fountain for women, and pure liquor signs, and is tempted to take the first glass of liquor that is likely to blight his life and send his soul to perdition. Bishop Potter's idea is establishing a "respectable" saloon was that the confirmed liquor drinker might be won away from the low grogshop and led to spend his time where he would buy pure liquors and also be under more refining influences. Theoretically, the plan might have some attraction, but in actual operation it is likely to destroy a hundred young men of promising lives where it attracts one toper away from the grogshop. It is greatly to be feared that Bishop Potter, despite his high position and learning, is making a serious blunder when he sanction the selling of liquor.—The Pittston Gazette.

The last census shows that only 12.8 per cent of the total manufactured output of the United States is made by trusts; that only 8.13 per cent of the food supplies of the United States is controlled by trusts and that only 7.5 per cent of the labor employed in manufacturing is employed by trusts. It follows that the remaining 87.2 per cent of the manufacturing output is made by competing independent industries; that 95.2 per cent of labor is employed in competing independent industries. Republican protectionists argue from this that to remove the duty would hurt the competing independent industries more than the trusts.

Alexander Straff cannot conduct his merry-go-round in the vicinity of Nay Aug park, Scranton. This was definitely settled by Judge Edwards, who yesterday, in an opinion, adjudged the defendant guilty and dismissed his appeal with cost. Straff was arrested for conducting a merry-go-round near Nay Aug park in defiance of an ordinance that no such contrivance shall be operated within 1,00 feet of any park. He was fined $25, but on the contention that the ordinance was unconstitutional was allowed to appeal.

Another great stride has been made by America. She now leads Germany in the production of beer. This paper has noticed that a good many inhabitants of the country have been drinking large quanities of beer. The intention was very evidently to increase the production as to oust Germany from the coveted place. Now that we are ahead of the Kaiser in this respect there may be a slight diminution in the amount consumed by some of the tanks.

It gives a man a rather wealthy feeling to know that the United States with seven per cent of the world's land area and five per cent of its population has 25 per cent of its wealth. Moreover our wealth is increasing faster than any other nation. Let it come this way please.

PARKER'S ACCEPTANCE.

This paper believes it to be a fair statement when it is said there is general disappointment over the speech of Judge Parker accepting the nomination for President on the Democratic ticket. His telegram to the St. Louis convention, defining his position on the gold question had led the country to believe that he would say something equally positive on the other issues of the day. Instead, we have a colorless and obscure discussion of these questions that leave the mind of the reader in doubt as to his real belief.

It is true he says that the Democratic platform is admirable and that if elected President he will not be a candidate for that office again. Evidently he believes what he says about the platform and is sincere in his promise, not to seek re-election; but his promise and his endorsement of the platform are hardly sufficient to make a winning campaign issue. Indeed, his endorsement of a platform that declares that protection is a "robbery of the many to enrich few" will hardly win votes in those states where he needs them and where the prosperity and happiness of the people are largely dependent upon this wise and beneficent policy which has always been a cardinal principle in the creed of the Republican party. It is conceded, we believe, that there are no more important issues now before the country than the tariff and trusts. Around these question the fiercest contest of the presidential battle will be waged, for, not only are they the questions which mostly concern the welfare of the country, but they are also questions upon which the two parties are most widely separated. The Democratic platform demands new legislation against trusts but Judge Parker in his speech says the present laws are sufficient if enforced. But had he been fair and entirely candid he would have said, also, that President Roosevelt is attempting to enforce these laws and that the only effective work in this direction has been performed by the Republican party.

Judge Parker's declarations on the tariff are so indefinite and dextrous that it is impossible to say just where he does stand and they leave in the mind the suspicion that at heart he is a Protectionist. He is, he says, opposed to "excessive" duties and takes pains to assure the business interests of the country that he can do no harm because even if elected, a Republican senate will prevent him from making any radical changes in the tariff. This confession of the Democratic candidate shows that he has no expectation of any revision of the tariff except such as the Republican senate may permit, and that he believes that the declaration of the Democratic platform is empty talk to catch votes.

As we have already stated, the speech of acceptance is disappointing. It is an endorsement of the platform which shows that the Democratic candidate for President stands with his party on all the issues that divide the two parties and that he will, if elected, President, act in accord with the wishes of the leaders of his own party. What they will be its record for the past 40 years is the best index.

Mayor Harrison of Chicago will endeavor to put an end to the stock yards strike. He will have a talk with the representatives of the strikers and later will have one with the packers. He will undertake the task of reconciling the difference. President Roosevelt had good luck in hitting on a plan for the settlement of the coal strike and Mayor Harrison is evidently hoping to meet with the same fortune. The public when educated up to the real merits of these disputes has a good deal of moral influence in settling them. The trouble is that the public has a hard time finding out who's who and what's what in the bitter attacks indulged in by one side against the other.

Some indiscreet partisan has been trying to make political capital on the score of age, against Senator Davis, the Democratic candidate for vice-president, who is eighty-two years old. The New York Sun reminds the critic that Noah, at the time he built the ark, was five hundred and eighteen years four months and twenty-five days older than Mr. Davis. This ought to be conclusive on the subject of age.

Charles Brasefield formerly of Plymouth, is in jail at Lancaster, charged with tampering with gas meters and scheming to cheat an electric light company. His plan of operation was to make offers to slow down meters, on condition that he should receive a portion of the money thus saved by patrons of the light company. The gas company should have hired Mr. Brasefield first.

Through newspaper advertising the Lehigh County Fair association (of this state) got out of debt last year. With an expenditure of about $3,000 for newspaper space, it drew people enough to realize $50,000. The crowd was unprecedented, the fair never having been widely advertised before in the newspapers.—Philadelphia Record.

With room at every hand where nature's fine air, water and land can be enjoyed the report coming from New York of two boys who fell off the top of a tenement house where they were flying their kites comes as an item almost incredible.

MOST DISTINGUISHED SON.

In the discussion of the question as to who is Bradford county's most distinguished son, the Bradford Star this week publishes an interesting article which is here printed:

What Bradford county man contributed in largest measure to the upbuilding of the Comonwealth? This is a question which must be decided by a special commission appointed to find the most distinguished son in each of the 67 counties of the State. The names of these 67 men who are to figure in future history as the 67 most representative sons of the Keystone State, are desired that they may be engraved in marble as part of the decorations of the new State capitol.

What name shall represent Bradford county? If long, faithful and able service as a public servant in the legislative and executive branches of our State government is to be considered the most essential qualification, the honor and distinction belongs to Gen. Samuel McKean, whose splendid career as State Representative, Senator, Secretary of Commonwealth, member of Congress and United States Senator, covers a period of 25 years. He was not only a pioneer, but a great force in shaping legislation for the upbuilding of the Commonwealth. General McKean was not only the greatest man of his day in Northern Pennsylvania, but one of the great men of the Commonwealth.

If those are to be considered, who by their sacrifices brought the republic into existence and braved the hardships of pioneer life in establishing the settlements and laying the foundations of good citizenship, high on the honor roll are the names of Col. John Franklin, Judge Obadiah Gore and Gen. Simon Spalding. In considering the bench and bar and statesmanship we have Chief Justice Ulysses Mercur and David Wilmot. If a true patriot to state and country is wanted, the name should be that of Major-General Henry J. Madill.

RESULTS APPARENT.

Dr. Warren, dairy and food comissioner has received reorts of analysis of milk and cream from Western Pennsylvania chemists, which were surprising in their results, and indicated in unmistakeable terms, that the efforts to rid that section of the State of embalmed dairy products has met with a marked degree of success. Out of a total number of 225 samples analyzed for formaldehyde, boric acid annatto, and other harmful or illegal adulterants, only three samples were found which failed to comply with the law.

This is a most excellent showing and Commissioner Warren was delighted to learn of the strict attention that is being paid to the laws by the dairymen and farmers in particular. This is in strange contrast with the condition which existed at the time when the present dairy and food commissioner assumed charge of the office.

In the same district last summer scores of prosecutions were successfully brought against the dairymen who used formaldeyde, (embalming fluid) or who sold skimmed or watered milk and cream.

That all atempts to paint the lily or to gild refined gold have proved unavailing has not deterred John D Rockefeller from planning to make the bee busier. At his country home on the Hudson he is feeding his bees on glucose with the avowed purpose of making them work on rainy days thus depriving them of their only holidays. Some one with a genius for figures has calculated that if the bees take kindly to their new diet the value of the country's honey crop will be increased one hundred million dollars

The making and passing of counterfeit money is much like violating feiting is a great deal like violating the liquor laws. A man may make for awhile but in the end he is almost sure to be a "goner." Just now counterfeit five-dollar bills and counterfeit half-dollars and quarters are being circulated in the vicinity of Binghamton. The chances are that before a long some person or persons who have given enough time and study to make good money will be hauled into court and cast into prison for making bad money.

The latest sort of religion is the megaphone religion. It is shouted from the mountain top by Rev. Joe Copen of West Virginia who likens himself and his methods to St. Paul preaching on Mars Hill. Rev. John is known as the "Cyclone Exhorter of West Virginia." He ought to be promoted to a spielership on the Midway of the Pike county fair.

Mrs. Byrning of Kansas City has secured a divorce because her husband was quite too amiable—never contradicted her and acquiesed in all her plans. Now wife-beating is an altogether disreputable as well as sinful practice; still, one may almost hope that Mrs. Bryning's next prize in the matrimonial lottery may prove more strenuous.

Base Ball Mad.

The Austin base ball team which plays here on Thursday and Friday of this week evidently is well supported at home. When a game is played there the business men close up their stores and go to the games.

RUSHING THE FILIPINOS.

Hon. William H. Taft, Secretary of War, made an address at Chautauqua last Thursday of "Our Duty to the Philippines." The following is in a report of his remarks:

"It is the failure to identify themselves with the government as part of it and as responsible for its proper administration that renders the great body of the Filipino people at present unfit for complete self-government and the production of the system of jury trial."

The speaker said the Filipnos must be taught governmental responsibility and made to understand that public offices must be administered for the benefit of the people. "And this lesson of public responsibility" he continued, "which a man must have, either as a citizen or as a public officer among people well fit for self-government, is a lesson which the wealthy and the educated class among the Filipinos have yet to learn."

He cited intelligent public opinion as another essential to self-government which, he said, is absent today in the Philippines. The problem before this government, he said, is how best to educate the Filipinos for self-government.

COLLEGE REPUBLICANS.

Two Young Men of This Section in Charge of Campaign Work.

One of the duties of a political campaign is systematic work among the young voters of the American colleges. During the last two years of college there are a considerable number who are of voting age and it is with the purpose of making enthusiastic partisans of these voters that the work is done. G. Leal Genung of Waverly, a Cornell man, has been given charge of the work of the College Republican clubs east of Chicago with the exception of Pennsylvania.

Caude A. Thompson of this place, has been given charge of the work in the Middle West, Pennsylvania and California. Mr. Thompson is a law student at the University of Michigan and both he and Mr. Genung are energetic and enthusiastic Republicans. They prove very successful in the work.

King Abdicated.

The Hungarian colony in Sayre is without a leader. The uncrowned king has abdicated, his throne is vacant, his scepter and his sway are broken. His mantle has not yet fallen on anyone, but there will undoubtedly arise many claimants for the honor. Mike Oper left Monday for Hungary. He took his wife and family with him. He secured enough of Uncle Sam's coin, through the Lehigh Valley, to return to his native clime where he could pass the remainder of his life in comparative munificence. The king is not dead, but he is going home, long live the king.—Athens News.

New Wall Paper Store.

G. F. Beloud & Co. of Sayre have leased the south part of the store in Chamberlin block in which W. G. Tracy's insurance office is located, and on September 1 will open a wall paper establishment, which will be in charge of A. F. Beloud. The firm has a large business at Sayre, and will undoubtedly materially increase it by this move.

Assumption of Blessed Virgin.

Yesterday, the fifteenth of August, is a holy day in the Catholic church and services were held in the church of SS. Peter and Paul here. It is the anniversary of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin and in many places it is the occasion of picnics. This custom has been abandoned in Towanda and the day is celebrated quietly.

HORSES AND AUTOS.

Motor Vehicles Here to Stay—Duties of Owners.

Automobiles are yet so much of a new thing in Bradford county that horses still prance and get frightened at them. This was true of the bicycle while it was a novely but gradually the most of the spirited horses got so that they would not give much attention to them. The same thing will result in time in the case of the automobile here as it has in those sections where there are more of the machines in use.

There is only one thing about the matter though the automobilists ought to understand—a horse that is badly frightened once may never get over it and behooves those who run machines hereabouts to be very careful now and in a few months horses will know that the machines will not injure them. Running close to carriages and letting the machines pound when horses give evidence of being frightened is a bad practice and can not help to injure the reputation of the motor cars in the eyes of those who are partially opposed to them.

There is no doubt that the automobile is here to stay. It is a useful invention as well as a pleasurable one. There is an exhilaration in riding in an auto that is gained in nothing else and the speed with which they may be run when they get a free road makes a quick trip over a long distance possible. With a little care at first the auto owner and the horse owner will not feel fight and the horse and the auto will blink a friendly eye at each other. Here's to the success of the auto and the good sense of their owners.

BEAR AT CROCKET LODGE.

A Large Black Bear Came Down and Watched Tennis Game.

Mrs. James Elverson and company were surprised on Wednesday afternoon while they were engaged in a game of tennis when a large black bear made his appearance and was taking in the game from the hill.

Some of the party attempted to get a better view of him by getting closer when bruin thought he was not wanted any longer and took to the woods on the mountain.—Canton World.

AUGUST GAME.

What May Lawfully Be Shot This Month.

Pennsylvania game laws for this month ar not the same as for last and persons who wish to take recreation with a gun should bear in mind the changes if they wish to protect their game birds and game.

The season for plover opened the middle of last month and continues until the end of this year. The summer season for the woodcock was during July only, and now this bird will be protected by a closed season until the middle of October. Beginning with the first of next month gunners may shoot rail reed birds and web footed wild fowl but there are no birds or mammals classed as game that may be killed during the month of August.

The birds that are not protected, and may be killed at any time during the year are the English sparrow, King Fishers, Cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, duck hawk, pigeon hawk, great horned owl, barred owl, green heron and night heron. The mammals that are not protected, and, consequently, may be killed at any time during the year are the pine or red squirrel, raccoon, oppossum, bear, wild cat, porcupine, woodchuck or groundhog, skunk, as well as the mink, weasels, muskrats foxes, chipmunk and various kinds of rats and mice, bats, moles and shrews.

WOMAN ASCENDS TALL STACK.

Miss Pearl Henry Accomplishes the Daring Feat at Sayre.

The first woman to ascend one of the high chimneys on the new power house is Miss Pearl Henry, of Mackeyville, this state. Miss Henry is a niece of Dr. LaPlant and has been spending the summer at his home on Lehigh avenue. At noon time Saturday Miss Henry visited the shop plot with the doctor's son and while there conceived the idea of going to the top of the second stack, all of which is finished except the coping. She stepped on the elevator and a moment later was at the top 200 feet from the ground. After reaching the top she unfurled an American flag, and this she waved to those who were watching her from various points in the town. The feat requires considerable nerve, and few men not accustomed to dizzy heights would care to attempt it.—Sayre Times.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from her late home, with interment in the Jillson cemetery.

MR. LILLEY'S SPEECH.

Gave Much Appreciated Address at Big Soldiers' Gathering.

Mial E. Lilley, Esq., of this place was one of the principal speakers at the reunion of the Seven County Veterans association at Factoryville on Wednesday of last week and the Scranton Tribune had this to say of his address:

The first speaker of the afternoon session was Hon. Mial E. Lilley, of Towanda, Republican candidate for congress in the Fifteenth district. His address was very spirited and was greatly enjoyed by all present. In concluding he spoke as follows:

"America today is attracting all the adventurers of the old world, and we stand in danger of becoming another Rome. The members of the Grand Army shed their blood, gave their time and health to protect this country forty years ago, and it now becomes your duty again to save your country by preventing the influx of a people undesirable.

"Where is Spain today? Her greatness has vanished, because devotion to duty gave place to greed and graft. Ancient Greece, which led in the arts and sciences, is but a memory now, and you, men of the Grand Army, are the ones to prevent greed and graft making our own land but a mark in history.

"Undoubtedly this country has a work to perform. English guns and sailors only made it possible for the gospel to be preached in foreign lands, and now America must carry the word of God to those in spiritual darkness. My thought is expressed in the grand battle hymn of the republic:

As He died to make men holy,
Let us die to make men free.

NEW TELEPHONE LINE.

Canton-LeRoy Farmers' Mutual Company Ready For Business.

The Canton-LeRoy farmers' mutual telephone company has established a central office in J. O. Whitman's drug store and about 34 phones have been installed in the town. Susscribers get the free use of several connecting lines, running to West Franklin, Windfall, Troy, Union and Grover, and arrangements have been made for long distance toll service with the Independent telephone company.

W. B. North of the North electric company of Cleveland, was in town last week, fitting up the Central office with a 140 line switchboard. Thirty lines have been connected already. The switchboard is a very handsome piece of work, and is said to be first class.

It is expected that the lines will be in operation, except the long distance, by the middle of this week.—Canton Sentinel.

WYALUSING FAIR.

Eastern Bradford Wants an Exhibition All Its Own.

At a meeting of those interested in establishing a permanent fair for eastern Bradford at this place Thursday evening, it was decided to open subscription for stock in the proposed fair and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions. The shares are ten dollars each and they entitle the holders to life membership in the association and probably gives them the privilege of competing for any prizes offered by the society without the payment of an entrance fee. The boro committee is having excellent success in securing subscriptions, in fact the paper had only to be presented to the citizens in this locality and the subscriptions secured. The stockholders will hold a meeting in the council rooms in this borough Friday evening when a permanent organization will be perfected.—Wyalusing Rocket.

STEALING RIDES.

Two Bad Accidents to Train Riding Thieves.

John Gillespie of Scranton was stealing a ride on a Lehigh pasenger train on Thursday night and fell from the top of a car near Lockwood, N. Y. He is at the Sayre hospital suffering from injuries which are feared will be fatal.

Rush Hagenback, a tramp whose home is at Bethlehem, had the muscles of one leg crushed at Hinman on Friday morning while stealing a ride on a Lehigh train. His leg was caught between the bumpers. He was removed to the Packer hospital.

On Fine Auto Trip.

Dr. Charles S. Means together with three Waverly gentlemen of whom one was Percy Lang with whom the doctor rode enjoyed a fine automobile trip of 150 miles in two Ford automobiles last week. The fine New York state roads and the fact that New York horses are accustomed to autos made the trip a great one. The 150 miles were made in less than 10 hours of actual running time. The party visited a number of places, among others Watkins Glen.

Died After Operation.

Patrick Lowery of Bernice was taken to the Packer hospital at Sayre on Friday and operated on that afternoon, as the patient, who was a young boy was suffering from an affection of the kidney that would produce death in a short time. The operation was performed too late and the boy did not have enough vitality to withstand the shock and died soon after. The deceased was eight years of age and was supposed to have been suffering from appendicitis.

Death of Young Child.

T. Ellis Forbes, the youngest child of Mrs. Maude Forbes of Milltown, died on Thursday morning of last week of cholera infantum, aged three years. Funeral services were held on Saturday.

SAYRE MILK DEALERS PAID MINIMUM FINE.

Pleaded Guilty Before Judge Fanning to Using Preservative.

George Norris, F. S. Gaige and Austin Wolcott, members of the firm of Gaige Norris & Co., milk dealers at Sayre, were before Judge Fanning Thursday afternoon, charged by inspectors of Pure Food Department of the state with using formaldehyde as a preservative of milk. There were six cases in all, two each, and they pleaded guilty in each instance. Gaige and Norris were sentenced to pay a fine of $50 each and cost of prosecution on one case each. Sentence was suspended on the others.

District Agent Robert M. Simmers of Phoenixville and Special Agent J. W. Hurst of Herrick, took samples of the milk sold by all the dealers in Sayre on Thursday of last week and State Chemist Brinton immediately made an analysis for specific gravity and preservatives, with the result given above.

Inspected Towanda Milk.

Thursday the inspectors took 36 samples of milk from all the dealers in Towanda. An analysis showed no preservatives used, but three samples showed a slight dilution. The inspectors state that a thorough campaign against food adulterations will soon be comenced in this county. They are to pay particular atention to milk, but other lines will receive attention. The state law is particularly stringent regarding adulteration of milk, the act of 1901 stating that no substance whatsoever may be added to it. The minium fine is $50 and the maximum $100 with imprisonment. The inspectors are working under written orders from the department not to effect a settlement in any case commenced except by the verdict of a court. This bars the usual settlement before a justice of the peace.

Concerning Compound Lard.

The inspectors called attention to the sale of a lard compound, known to the trade as "Compound Lard." This article is said to contain no lard. Every package sold, no matter how small, must be marked on the outside of the wrapper in leters at least half an inch high, "Compound Lard,' before being delivered to the customer.

WINCHETT JUMPED BAIL.

Got Out of His Difficulty for Small Sum of $100.

John Winchett, who was charged with illegal liquor selling, did not appear at the hearing before Justice Orcutt Thursday and as a result forfeits the $100 bail which he put up. John, however, is probably having a good smile at his luck for he has made a big haul up in the lumber woods by selling grog without a license.

For some reason only $100 bail was required and John had rather pay that sum five times over than spend time in jail or cracking stone. So he jumped the ten tenners and can now ply his trade again in some other camp. The authorities wish to break up this illegal liquor traffic and the next man caught will have to forfeit bigger bail than $100 probably to get out of his difficulties.

FISHER OF FISH.

Rev. Dr. O. A. Houghton Lands Immense Pickerel.

Rev. O. A. Houghton Ph. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in this place, is spending his vacation with Mrs. Houghton at Thousand Island Park. Here he fishes for men but there he has been after fish. He got one the other day that brought him fame. It was a twelve pound pickerel and the largest caught at the park this year.

The fish measured three feet and a half inches from tip to tip and was thirteen and a half inches in circumference.

The Small Store.

A great merchant says that "many small merchants in the cities doubt the value of advertising in their own case. These men fail to take into consideration the fact that in most instances the department store began as a neighborhood store and increased its business by judicious advertising. Advertising is just as profitable for the small business as for the large one. Newspaper publicity comes first."—Philadelphia Record.

Change in Position.

Evan Muir, formerly of this place, who has of late been cashier of the new Citizens' National bank of Windber, Pa., has resigned his position there to take effect Sept. 1 and has accepted the position of cashier in the Nanticoke National bank. This is a new institution which will begin business as soon as Mr. Muir completes the arangements. Mrs. Muir is in Towanda at present and Mr. Muir is expected her this week.

Trip to Seattle.

President Kipp of the First National bank, and his son-in-law, Dr. Hawes, left Towanda Thursday afternoon for Seattle, on a business trip. They expect to return east as far as Gardner, Mont., where they will join the Knights Templar excursion party that leaves here on the 22nd, for a trip through the Yellowstone Park and to the triennial conclave at SanFrancisco.

Death of an Aged Woman.

Mrs. Mary Vanderpool died at her home in South Towanda Sunday afternoon, at the age of 92 years. The deceased was a remarkably well preserved woman and retained the full possession of her faculties up to the time of her last illness. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the house, with interment in Cole's cemetery.

PASTOR IN PHILIPPINES.

Letter Concerning Rev. Lewis B. Hillis, Well Known Here.

The following is taken from the New York Recorder from "The impressions of a lady on the journey around the world." It will be of interest to the many here who know Rev. Hillis, who lived in Towanda in his boyhood.

"The names of the pasengers arriving at Manila are published at once in the daily papers, and within a few hours after we were settled in our rooms a card was brought up by a Filipino boy, and we had the great pleasure of being welcomed by the pastor of the Amercan Presbyterian church, the Rev. Lewis B. Hillis.

"We liked the young pastor very much the first time we met him; the second time we liked him better, and when he traveled with us later, the interest deepened into respect, and the respect into affection, and the affection—but we found that our feeling was the one that prevailed among the hundreds of Americans that have come under his influence during the year that he had been here. The leader of this personally conducted party of two has been with Mr. Hillis a good deal in the offices of the government, and he says that the young pastor is able to recognize by name seemingly half of the people he meets. He is especially popular among the men, and the young men especially; he seems too busy to have much time for the fair sex—but he may need a rest some time, and then who can tell? We learn that the Presbyterian Board is talking of sending Dr. Rossiter and his family to take charge of the work; but Mr. Hillis will undoubtedly be retained to assist the popular New York pastor.

AFTER FAKE SYRUPS.

Pure Food Agents After Those Who Do Not Use Them.

Wholesale arrests are to be made within the next two weeks of manufacturers and dealers in Philadelphia who are suspected of having sold substitutes for fruit syrups and all retailers believed to have passed the injurious compounds on to the public.

Dairy and Food Commissioner Warren declares that this contemplated action is one of the most important and far-reaching branches of the pure food crusade yet started.

The new campaign is directly solely against mixtures falsely purported to be fruit syrups. Effort will be made to molest no dealer who is able to show that his wares are the genuine article. If, after arrest, the accused is able to show to the satisfaction of the commisioners that he has not been guilty of the offense charged the prosecution will be immediately withdrawn.

It was only after extensive investigation that the present steps were decided upon. For on this complaints had been pouring forth that children in the poorer sections of the city were becoming ill of some new disease.

MR. BROWN'S VACATION.

Absented Himself One Year But is in Jail Once More.

William Brown, who has resided in many different places in this county, is again sojourning in the county jail after an absence of almost a year. He was arrested on Saturday night by Sheriff Robinson about five miles from Owego, and brought to Towanda on Sunday morning. Brown was serving a nine months sentence for larceny and had completed six months of his time, when he took advantage of the privileges allowed him by Sheriff Robinson as a "trusty," and ran away on Aug. 21, 1903. Since that time the sheriff has been on the watch for him.

Brown is the same man who moved his goods across the New York state line to escape sale a couple of years ago and when Deputy Sheriff Pierce and Constable Hollon went after him stood the officers off at the point of an old gun barrel. He will probably receive a good sentence for jail breaking.

Swallowed Turkeys.

Ed. Tracy killed a large black snake in the road near his house on Monday. The enormous size of the snake's body in 3 places about one foot apart, aroused Mr. Tracy's curiosity, so that calling his wife and some passing neighbors, it was decided to hold a post-mortem examination. The autopsy revealed the presence in the stomach of three turkeys which had been devoured that morning.—Troy Register.

Lost His Pension Check.

Loomis Vargason, who lives in Towanda township on the hill back of Greenwood, lost his pension check on Tuesday inght of last week somewhere between the Powell postoffice and his home. The envelope contained his voucher and a check for $51. Whoever finds this check should return it at once to Mr. Vargason as no one but himself can realize upon it.

The arbitrators were Colonel E. J. Ayers, E. L. Smith and D. T. Evans. Lilley & Wilson appeared for the plaintiff and Rodney A. Mercur, Esq., for the defendants.

Another Official Resigned.

W. O. Sprigg, superintendent of the New York division of the Lehigh Valley, has resigned. He had charge of the yards at Jersey City and the wharves and boat lines from Jersey City to New York and Brooklyn. It is said that no successor to Mr. Sprigg will be appointed the work to be divided between other officials.

TO MANUFACTURE AUTOMOBILES.

Dr. Walter E. Decker to Engage in That Business.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Decker, who have been visiting Dr. Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Decker, here, have returned to their home at Boston.

Dr. Decker has been obliged to give up the practice of dentistry on account of his health and this Fall enters the automobile business. A stock company has been formed and Dr. Decker will be one of the chief men in the enterprise. The plant is to be located at Providence R. I. Dr. Decker has owned several automobiles and has the necessary mechanical genius for an understanding of the machines.

He knows enough about them to have been selected to teach the Young Men's Christian association automobile school in Boston and Providenc and he should be able to inculcate the best ideas of many machines in the automobile that he will manufacture in Providence.

After mining for some time with indifferent luck Mr. McFarline got into business and now has a prosperous men's furnishing store. He is now on a business trip to New York city and Boston, buying goods to be shipped to his faraway place of business. Mr. McFarline still speculates and keeps up his interest in several gold claims.

He left Dawson City in June and has been stopping along the way. He arrived at Warsaw, N.Y., his old home this week and came to Towanda to see his many friends. He was the guest of W. F. Humphrey while here.

A Word of Commendation.

The Towanda Daily Review is twenty-five years old today and is the best country daily we have ever seen. It is even more interesting than many of the city dailies.—Monroeton Enterprise.

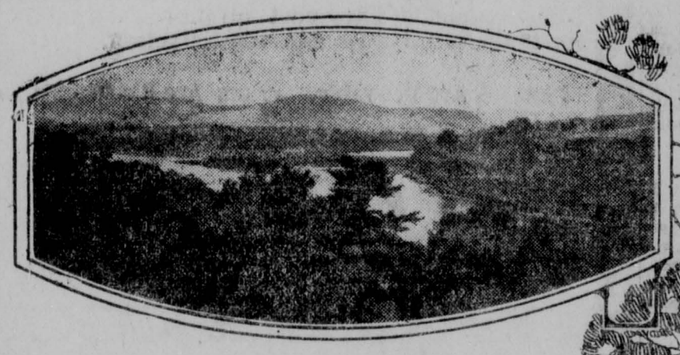
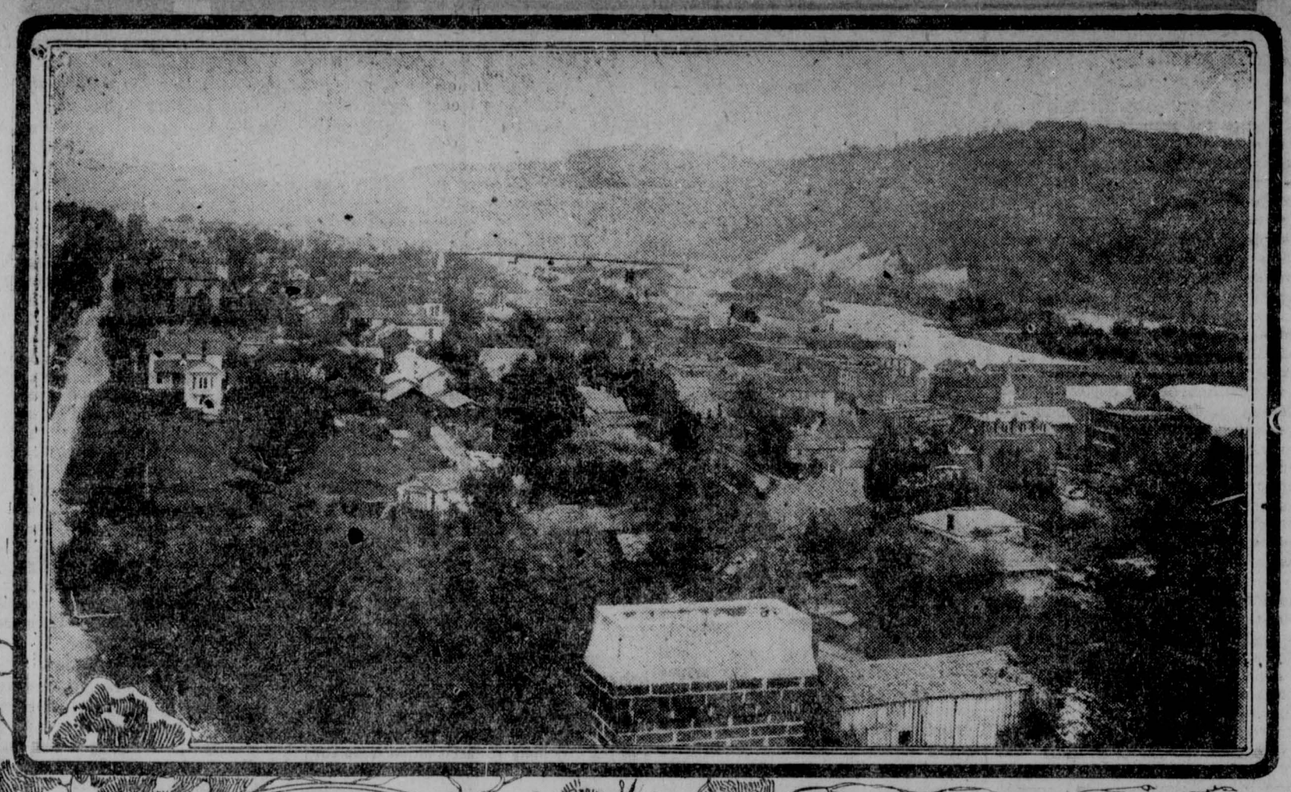
Twenty-Five Years Old.

Towanda Daily Review Celebrated Its Quarter Century Anniversary Last Week.

WAS ESTABLISHED AUG. 11, 1879.

Now Published By the Towanda Printing Company at the County Seat of Bradford County.





FROM A FOUR-COLUMN PAGE AND A SHEET 15x22 INCHES IN SIZE, PRINTED ON A JOB PRESS, IT HAS GROWN TO A SEVEN-COLUMN NEWSPAPER, PRINTED EITHER FOUR OR SIX PAGES AT A TIME ON A PERFECTING PRESS, AND ITS TYPE COMPOSED ON A MERGANTHALER LINOTYPE.—SOMETHING ABOUT THE BEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IN PENNSYLVANIA, THE REPORTER JOURNAL AND BRADFORD REPUBLICAN.

Twenty-five years ago, on Aug. 11, 1879, late in the afternoon, the first number of the Towanda Daily Review was printed. Stephen W. Alvord was its editor, and associated with him was his son, Noble N. Alvord, now of Minneapolis. The sheet was of four pages, four columns to the page, and was 15 x 22 inches in size. The first idea of the publishers was to furnish an account of the Bradford County Teachers' institute, which began a two weeks' session in the high school building on the day of its first appearance. Near the end of the institute the announcement was made that the publication would be continued so long as it received the support of the public.

The hard work of the publishers and the excellent local paper they produced from the start were very poorly appreciated by the public, and the first few years of The Review were fraught with uncertainty. For three years and a half it was issued in its original size and form, appearing as a morning paper, which at that time, as now, better accommodated its readers in Towanda and vicinity. On April 10, 1883, it was enlarged to a five-column folio, and William H. Webb became one of its publishers, his father, the late Hon. James H. Webb, having purchased a third interest in the business. At this time a weekly edition was established, a "ready print" sheet being used.

Changes of Management.

In November, 1885, Mr. Webb purchased the interest of the Alvords. He was not a writer, and employed as editors successively S. W. Alvord, Edward Stoddard of Ithaca, and E. B. McKee, the present business manager of the paper. Mr. Webb was progressive, and under his management the paper was enlarged to a six column folio, the weekly was made a semi-weekly and a daily telegraphic news service was inaugurated. This made an expense the business of the office could not sustain, and on July 1, 1884, Mr. Webb leased the office to S. W. Alvord, who conducted the paper for six months. Then Ethelbert R. Thompson and Orrin D. Goodenough leased the plant for one year with the privilege of purchase.

Five months after this last change a proposition was made for a transfer of the lease to Elmer B. and Frank C. McKee of Towanda, the latter a practical printer and newspaper man. On June 15, 1885, they took charge as publishers. Before this time, however, the paper had been ensmalled to a five column folio, the semi-weekly had been made a weekly and the telegraph service discontinued.

It was a new start from near the bottom round of the ladder, but the new publishers took hold with energy to make the best local newspaper that could be turned out in Towanda. How well they succeeded is attested by the steady increase in circulation and advertising patronage that followed. This necessitated an enlargement to six columns to the page in the Fall of 1886; during the previous year the news dispatches had been reestablished. At the expiration of their lease McKee Brothers bought the business, and for over 19 years The Review has been under the direct management of E. B. McKee.

Sept. 3, 1894, F. C. McKee retired from the firm of McKee Bros., the business being continued under the same firm name as before. The Weekly Review meanwhile grew in size and patronage, and on Nov. 15, 1896, it was consolidated with the Bradford Republican, purchased at that time by The Review's owner.

The Towanda Printing Company.

On Oct. 1, 1903, the Towanda Printing Company was organized, the corporation being a consolidation of the business of McKee Bros. and the Reporter-Journal Printing Company. The company was organized with D. M. Turner, president, J. A. Doane, vice-president, C. L. Humphrey, secretary, and E. B. McKee treasurer and business manager. It was determined to consolidate the plants in the quarters in the Mercur block occupied by the Reporter-Journal Printing company, and on Jan. 1, 1904, the business of both plants was being done there.

To accommodate the large business thus created a new mechanical equipment was at once ordered. For a year previous to this time the type for McKee Bros.' publications had been set upon a Mergenthaler linotype composing machine. This was moved to the new location and a Cox Duplex perfecting press was bought and installed. This machine prints and folds ready for mailing either a four, six or eight page paper at the speed of 4,000 per hour. A Whitlock two-revolution cylinder press for book and job work was also installed, making the office one of the best equipped in this section of the state.

The Daily Review, from its initial number to the present day, has been first, last and all the time a Towanda and Bradford county newspaper. No opportunity has been neglected to further the interests of its constituents. No paper of its size published in towns the size of Towanda gives a better general news service or puts more money or painstaking care into the presentation of the local news.

Twenty-five years ago printed one page at a time upon a job press run by foot power, it is now printed four or six pages—seven columns to the page—and folded ready for the carrier boys who distribute it in the borough, at the rate of 4,000 per hour. Each morning there are printed and circulated in Towanda borough and Bradford county, with but very few outside this field, 1,400 copies. It has come to be a daily necessity in nearly every home in Towanda borough, and the means by which every progressive local merchant makes known his wares to the buying public. This liberal patronage the publishers greatly appreciate, and are determined by the use of every means in their power to merit in the future.

A news feature of The Review and Reporter-Journal and Republican of which the publishers are proud is the correspondence fom every town and hamlet in the county. Nealy 100 faithful correspondents are upon the lists, and every week fully half of them are represented. Last week 58 localities were heard from.

An Advertising Comparison.

The early numbers of The Review contained but little advertising matter and that was spread over as much space as could be conveniently used. The firm of Evans & Hildreth, dry goods, was the largest advertiser and carried a full column 14 inches long. The Stedge barber shop had a card; M. E. Rosenfield and H. Jacobs, clothiers, each had half a column; J. L. Kent used a half column to advertise dry goods; John Beidelman called attention to his harness and boot and shoe business; Blum's new shoe store had a half column, and Nathan Tidd had a card advertising his coal yard. There was nearly a column of business locals and the balance of the advertising space was devoted to school text books and the paper's own advertising matter.

A comparison with the present is interesting and shows the growth of the paper's prosperity and its appreciation by the business public. In the present dull Summer season over ten columns of paid advertising is carried daily, and in the list is represented nearly every business house at the county seat, together with many of the heaviest general advertisers throughout the country. In the busy season, that is nine months of the year from September 1 to June 1, the advertising matter will approximate 15 columns. The foreign advertising of The Review is well looked after by its New York city representative, Frederick W. Evans, whose offices are in the Park Row building.

Reporter-Journal and Republican.

A word may be said with propriety on this occasion regarding The Reporter-Journal and Bradford Republican, the best county newspaper in Pennsylvania. It is an eight page paper—twice the size of The Review, and each week 5,300 copies are printed and circulated in Bradford county and the contiguous territory and sent to hundreds of former Bradford county people all over the United States. It is a complete county newspaper, fully covering the local news of each week giving a summary of the State news and the more important general events, together with special features that appeal strongly to the farming community. These last are a bi-weekly grange department edited by A. T. Lilley, one of the foremost men in the ranks of the Patrons of Husbandry, and Trigg's "Farm, Orchard and Garden," the most complete and comprehensive agricultural contribution extant.

TOWANDA BOROUGH, THE HOME OF THE REVIEW.

Just a Mention of Its Beauties, Schools, Churches and Business.

Towanda, the home of The Review, is an ideal county-seat town, the capital of one of the richest counties of the Keystone state. Its location on the West bank of the Susquehanna is ideal for health and beauty. Its streets are well paved and kept, its sewer system is complete and its fire department is one of the best volunteer organizations in Pennsylvania. Towanda merchants are progressive and in their stores may be found every necessary article and a large share of the luxuries of life. It is but stating truth to say their prices compare more than favorably with those of the larger cities.

Schools and Churches.

Towanda is justly proud of her schools, both public and private. The public schools are three in number and are under the direction of Prof. J. H. Humphries, with a corps of 20 teachers. The Susquehanna Collegiate Institute, of which Prof. C. R. Stiles is the principal, was established in 1850. From it have gone out a host of men and women, many of whom have won fame of national scope, and some to successful business and other achievements in foreign lands. The St. Agnes parochial school, first known as the school of the Sisters of Mercy, was established in September, 1877, in the present sisters' residence through the efforts of Rev. Charles F. Kelly, then pastor of the Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Through Father Kelly's untiring efforts the present beautiful St. Agnes building was erected and dedicated on April 14, 1898, by Bishop Hoban. It cost approximately $30,000 and accommodates 250 children with every modern appliance and convenience.

Towanda has nine churches—the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist Episcopal, the Christ Episcopal Church, SS. Peter and Paul's Roman Catholic Church, the Church of the Messiah, Universalist, the First Baptist Church, Bethany Baptist Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist and the A. M. E. Zion Church. The ministers who fill these pulpits are filled with zeal and ability, and they are supported by the public as in but few towns the size of Towanda.

Some Business Enterprises.

A mere mention of all the business enterprises of the borough would be impossible in a newspaper article, but no town in Northern Pennsylvania has better business buildings. The town boasts the largest toy and novelty works in the world, the James H. Hawes Manufacturing company, whose goods go to every part of the civilized world. Charles L. Tracy, manufacturer of boots and shoes, and J. O. Frost's Sons, manufacturers of furniture, each employ a large number of skilled workmen. The Dayton Milling company, the Humphrey Manufacturing company, the B. M. Ayers Planing Mill company, the Susquehanna Valley Hay company, the Loetzer Valve & Manufacturing company, The Towanda Knitting company, The Towanda Motor Vehicle company, and many smaller enterprises add to the volume of business and welfare of the town.

Two national banks, the First and the Citizens, are both prosperous and sound, their combined deposits subject to check being $2,226,519.41.

A feature of the town of which every citizen is proud is the Towanda Public library, erected in 1897 through the generosity of Frank R. Welles of Paris, a native of Towanda, and the liberality of the townspeople. Hale's Opera House is a modern building well fitted for the production of theatrical entertainments. Visitors to Towanda invariably remark upon the splendid quality of the water. Towanda people have grown so used themselves to having the best that it has ceased to excite local comment. The supply is brought 18 miles from the Ellenberger Springs at Laddsburg.

PICTURESQUE TOWANDA

Some Brief Notes Concerning Its Business Interests, Its Municipal Government, Its Churches, Schools and Other Advantages.

Towanda is year after year becoming better known and appreciated as a resort where city people escape from the heat and dust of the Summer to a location where, while yet being able to enjoy all the comforts and luxuries of a modern life they may find the purest water, ozone surcharged air and a scope of beautiful mountain and river view unsurpassed in Pennsylvania.

Beautiful drives abound in every direction. At no point along the Susquehanna does the historic river present more beauties to the lover of nature than in Bradford county. The bass fishing is a feature that every disciple of ancient Isaak Walton will enjoy, for nowhere along the river are larger specimen of the king of inland game fish, the black bass, found.

Found 50,000 Old Pennies.

An old nail keg was recently unearthed in one of our western cities by workmen engaged in tearing down an old building. Upon opening it they became very much elated as it was full of pennies, but their joy was soon turned to disappointment for on closer examination they were found to be commercial pennies, used during the war, and of no value, whatever. The above has also been the experience of sickly men and women who were deceived into trying various remedies to restore them to health, but because they contained no merit were sadly disappointed. Not so, however, with those who selected Hostetter's Stomach Bitters to cure them of belching, heartburn, indigestion, dyspepsia, or malaria, fever and ague, for today they enjoy perfect heath. A trial will convince you, too.

TOWANDA WON OUT IN THE ELEVENTH INNING.

Game With Binghamton Press Proves One of the Best This Year.

Towanda won from the Binghamton Press team at the East Side grounds here Thursday afternoon by a score of 3 to 2 the winning run being made with one out in the last half of the eleventh inning. The game was a fine one in nearly every inning and verifies the prediction of the sporting editor that you cant always sometimes tell which game will prove a good one—witness Father Mathew with the great reputation. Thursday's game was considered a "filler" and as a result there was a paltry crowd at the game one of the smallest of the season.

Shay and Staub were not with Towanda team for the game and McAvoy filled Shay's place at first and Andrews, the popular Indian, occupied right field, Kline being moved over to Staub's place in left garden. The Press team made one run in the first inning. With two out, Sullivan cracked a big hit over Kline's head and reached third on it. He scored on Griffin's hit which Putnam threw hard at McAvoy and he dropped it. Towanda made one in her half. Russell hit, Putnam hit and then Russell scored on the Bingo's catcher throwing over the third baseman's head. In the seventh McAvoy scored for Towanda on Lynch's two-bagger. In the ninth Binghamton tied the score. Van Patten got three bases on a big hit and scored on Putnam's throw to the plate on a fielder's choice, Umpire Dunfee calling the man safe.

Both sides were blanked in the tenth and Bingo was not in it in the eleventh. Towanda in her half got the run necessary to win. M. Madigan knocked out for a long fly which was gobbled up by Delaney who played a fine game for Binghamton in left field. McAvoy hit for two bases and scored on Kline's hit.

Three double plays were made during the game and the exhibition was an excellent one except in the first half of the first inning when Towanda began to make errors. The team settled down to business and played the ball they are capable of. Cotter was in good form and fanned nine, allowing but six hits and not giving a base on balls. Sullivan pitched a nice game for the Press team but was found for 10 hits. He fanned six batsmen. Perrault made a fine running catch of a foul in the eighth. The tabulated score was as folows:

TOWANDA 13—BINGO 2.

Parlor City Chaps Took a Hard Beating Good Naturedly.

The Binghatmon Press ball team "stayed over" in Towanda Friday for a second game. The resulting encounter ended in a score of 13 to 2 in favor of the locals, who literally played with their visitors. A rather small crowd sat out the performance of an hour and 42 minutes. W. S. Beck umpired.

Griffin was in the Press box and Towanda pounded him for 13 hits and netted 13 runs; six errors by The Press asisted to this end. Andrews was in the box for Towanda, relieving Cotter, who played center field. He was hit for 11, but only two tallies resulted, both secured in the seventh inning. The fact that Towanda made but two errors, despite the lack of need for fast playing, showed good form. The only regret the locals experienced was their inability in the last inning to get away from the "unlucky thirteen." Just how all of those 13 points were made is of little moment, and would be a tedious story.

In the fifth inning M. Madigan hit for three sacks, but in trying to stretch it into a homer was outed at plate by a narrow margin. In the mixup at the plate Hennesy, the Press catcher, received an injury to his foot that took him out of the game. Sullivan took his place behind the bat and Manager Mullarkey took right field for the balance of the game.

ANOTHER FROM TUNKHANNOCK.

Hotly Contested Ten Inning Game of Ball at Wyalusing Saturday.

Towanda and Tunkhanonck met on Saturday afternon on neutral ground at Wyalusing and played a stubbornly contested game of ball. Towanda won out in the tenth inning on Shay's hit which scored J. Madigan; two were out. Owing to the rough nature of the outfield, errors were excedingly numerous and difficult to judge, consequently none appear in the official score book. There was an attendance of 500. The summary tells the story:

TOWANDA AND ULSTER TIED.

Fifteen Inning Ball Game Called on Account of Darkness.

The first "called on account of darkness" ball game played in this vicinty was that on Saturday between the Towanda Athletics and the Ulster nine at Ulster. The game was a first-class exhibition all the way through. At the end of the ninth inning the score stood four each. In the thirteenth inning each side added two more. Towanda played an errorless game and Ulster had but two errors.

The batteries were Tracy and Dunfee for Towanda, and Johnson and Davidson for Ulster. Tracy struck out 14 men and Johnson ten.

Letter to Geo. T. Ingham.

Towanda, Pa.

Dear Sir: You are so well known that the people have put you in office. They knew what they were about; They didn't do it by accident.

Wouldn't it be a handsome thing to do to paint your house? It is a nice house, has a good substantial commodious look, and isn't rusty at all, you know; but a fresh coat of paint would make it so bright! it's a pity not to.

Devoe is beautiful paint, but the beauty of it is: it lasts so long and does so much more than adorn an already interesting and attractive edifice. House, out-buildings and fences. There isn't a man or woman in town, who wouldn't make some pleasant remark.

Of course, you will paint the town property; nothing would mark your administration more, in the eyes of the people; and, having done the same thing at home it is the most natural thing in the world to do it for them.

Yours truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.

FORMER ELMIRAN WILL DO WORK IN SWITZERLAND.

Will Endeavor to Get Colonists to Take Up Western Lands.

Solomon R. Frey, a cigarmaker, formerly residing at 813 East Market street, Elmira, but later a resident of Tioga, Pa., has gone to Switzerland, where he will act as colonizer in the interest of Western railroads. The current issue of the Tioga Argus contains the following note:

"Solomon Frey, a cigarmaker of Elmira and a former resident of this place, sailed for Switzerland, his native country recently. Mr. Frey returns to his native town in the employ of a large railroad in the West. The railroad wishes to settle a large area of land in Mississippi and Arkansas with Swiss, and Mr. Frey will try to secure families to remove to this country to take homesteads in the West. It is planned to settle large colonies with Swiss, and Mr. Frey, who has been in this country for some advantages of America."—Elmira Advertiser.

MASON'S PROMOTION.

Army and Navy Register Speaks of Former Towandian.

In the Army and Navy Register of Aug. 6, the following reference to Commander Newton E. Mason is made. Commander Mason is a native of Towanda and his many friends here will be pleased to see his worth recognied by such an authority as the Army and Navy Register. That paper says:

"No better selection could have been made for the position of chief of ordnance of the Navy than that of Commander Newton E. Mason. He possesses the required experience in ordnance duty; he is an officer of great industry and one who takes the keenest interest in his profession. Rear Admiral Mason is a worthy successor of Rear Admiral Converse and the service is assured of the continuance of the liberal policy adopted by Read Admiral Converse. The many important plans formulated by the latter will be carried to successful conclusion by the new chief of ordnance and altogether the news of his appointment is the occasion of congratulation within the service."

A LOST NOTE.

Does the Losing of a Note Free Its Signers?

An interesting legal question came up in Justice Johnson's office at Athens on Wednesday of last week in the suit brought by W. F. Campbell, of Litchfield against Mrs. Alvin Haywood and Leonard Haywood for payment of a note made by them to him and which he had mislaid or lost. According to testimony brought out is seems that the defendants secured of the prosecutor the face value of the paper giving him the note in return, but when the date of payment came, knowing the document which they had signed was neither in his hands or where he could get it they refused to pay.

Witnesses were present whose testimony proved most conclusively that the note has existed and had not been paid, and the court therefore rendered judgment in favor of W. F. Compbell, the prosecutor.—Sayre Times.

Study Music at a Good School.

It has become a well known fact, that out of one hundred people who spend their money to secure an education in music, not more than one or two become musicians. The reason often lies in the fact that poor instruction is received.

We notice in reading the catalog of the LIterary Institute and State Normal, at Bloomsburg, that the courses offered in music are like those at the best conservatories, equally thorough and comprehensive, and the cost much less. Instruction in other branches may be taken while studying music. Send for catalog and refer to pages 11, 29, 30 and 31. Address

Victim of Catastrophe.

"The first bodies to be recovered from the terrible catastrophe in Colorado Sunday night were those of Miss Irene Wright and her little niece, Dorothy Johnson. Miss Wright was a daughter of Charlie Wright, a boy who was raised in Tunkhannock, and who is well known by many here still. He married a daughter of Wm. Woll and went to Pueblo, Colo., in the latter part of the seventies, where he still resides."—Tunkhannock Republican.
